

I am opposed to media consolidation. In these times it is more important than ever to insure that the media does not become a tool for the agenda of those who control it.